

Gareth makes late swoop for Championship midfielder

Lewis Wing arrives from Middlesbrough.

Wanderers have made a late swoop into the transfer market to bring Middlesbrough midfielder Lewis Wing to Adams Park, with less than an hour of the window remaining.

The 26-year-old has 100 Championship appearances to his name, having developed through the non-league scene with Shildon before leaving for Middlesbrough in 2017, and enjoyed two spells with Rotherham United either side of a loan deal at Yeovil Town.

He spent the first half of this season on loan at Sheffield Wednesday, playing 24 times in total, before making the switch to South Bucks on a deal initially until the end of the season.

Wing has developed a reputation for scoring spectacular efforts from distance, with 24 goals to his name in total in 172 appearances across all senior competitions.

Boss Gareth Ainsworth said: "He's a player I've admired for a long time. He's got real Championship pedigree and once he became available late in the window, I knew I wanted to bring him to the club.

"We always remain patient to bring in the right players for the right deal and we believe this is a real coup for us. He's a special talent who gives us a big goal threat from midfield and I'm looking forward to seeing him in action."

Elsewhere on deadline day, Jean-Baptiste Fischer has signed a contract to stay at Adams Park for the rest of the season, while Curtis Anderson has left the Blues to sign for Lancaster City.
