

Matt Bloomfield has offered new contracts to Chris Forino, Garath McCleary and Franco Ravizzoli as plans continue for the start of the 2024/25 season.

The Chairboys boss has held talks with his out-of-contract players and the club can now confirm its retained list.

Leaving the club at the end of their contracts this summer will be Max Stryjek, Joe Jacobson, D'Mani Mellor, Nathan Shepperd, Jack Wakely and Kane Vincent-Young.

Kane will be offered the opportunity to continue his rehabilitation with the club throughout pre-season, having sustained an injury in February.

Bloomfield commented: "I'm really pleased with the strength we've got in the squad, and our form since the turn of the year shows that we're in a good place to go forward and plan for an exciting season ahead of us.

"Continuity is important and it's great to have many of the players who've played the most minutes for us under contract for next season. Of course we will be without the lads who did so well for us on loan and we're really excited to watch their careers develop after spending time with us this year.

"It's a difficult time to make decisions to let players go and I'd like to thank them for all their hard work for this club during their time here. In particular, Max was our first choice keeper for nearly two years and was unfortunate to lose his place after his red card in February, but I know he's keen to explore new opportunities and we hope he can end this season on a high during his loan with Crewe in the play-offs, and find the move that's right for him this summer.

"Joe had a wonderful send-off on Saturday for his 400th and final game and deserves all the plaudits he's received because he will rightly go down in history as one of this club's best ever players. I know he will be a huge success in whatever he chooses to do next.

"Kane has been really unfortunate with injuries but he looked a really promising player for us when he stepped on the pitch, so we're looking forward to helping him get back to full fitness and seeing what opportunities open up for him at that point.

"My staff and I are already making good progress with recruitment plans for the new season and the hard work never stops because I am passionate about building on what we've achieved so far and delivering.

"We had a really strong transfer window in January and I want to say a huge thank you to Pete Couhig for his support throughout that window, and for all his help and support of me, the staff and players and the whole club over the past five years. He has had a massive influence in what's been probably the club's most successful generation and we owe him so much gratitude for the contributions and sacrifices he's made, giving everything he's got for the club and often spending long periods away from his family.

"He's taken the decision to step away but the legacy he's left here – particularly his work with the creation of the development squad – won't be forgotten and I'm so thankful for everything he's done."
