

Wycombe Wanderers striker Richard Kone's contract has been extended, the club are delighted to announce.

Kone, aged 21, has scored 10 times in 21 appearances so far this season to help propel the Blues to the top of the League 1 table, having joined the club on New Year's Day following a prolific spell in non-league with Athletic Newham.

Manager Matt Bloomfield said: "Rich has had a superb start to life as a professional footballer this year and he has huge potential to kick on and have a really successful career in the game, so we're really pleased to extend his contract.

"This is a fantastic club for him to continue to develop his all-round game; he's immensely popular with the fans and his team-mates and he's in an environment which will help to get the best out of him.

"It's been a long road from identifying Rich as a really exciting potential signing a couple of years ago to bringing him here in January, and credit has to go to everyone who's helped develop him on the training pitch, improve his fitness and physicality, and also help him settle and integrate into life in professional football.

"We know this news is going to be really well received by the fans and we're all looking forward to seeing what he can continue to achieve with us."

The news of Richard's contract extension was announced to season ticket holders at a Fans Forum at Adams Park on Thursday evening.
